TEST VOTES CONTINUE TO FAVOR CONTINUATION OF RACING IN MARYLAND.

Lower House at Annapolis Follows Example of Senate in Sending Bills Aimed Against Sport Back to Committee.

Baltimore, Md., April 2.—While neither the finance committee of the senate or the ways and means committee of the house at Annapolis has reported back the race track bills, there are indications today that the senate committee will make some report before the general assembly comes to an end at Monday night.

Robert P. Graham, secretary of state, went before the senate finance committee today and asked the passage of the Williams bill with the Benson amendment. This provided for a racing commission and a tax of $5,000 per day. Mr. Graham said that the state should get all the revenue possible out of the tracks.

Stevenson A. Williams, counsel for the Havre de Grace track, today wrote Senator Campbell, objecting to some provisions of the Benson amendment. Senator Campbell said that he might call Mr. Williams before the senate committee.

Meantime the race track people do not seem to fear there will be any legislation, and it is noticeable that all the effort to get anything passed seems to come from the Philco people.

Late last night Delegate Hall made another strenuous attempt to have his anti-betting bill brought from committee before the House of Delegates. He accused Speaker Tripp of keeping the measure back and was successful in getting action on the bill only after he had made a hard fight. When the bill finally came up it was immediately referred back to the committee on ways and means. This was the same move that was made in the senate with the Williams companion measure last Tuesday night.

"It's all a trick," yelled Delegate Hall. "I'm tired of seeing this bill being juggled and fooled around with."

The bill went back to the committee by a vote of 62 to 39. This vote shows the strength of the racing people in the lower house. In the senate they have the advantage by about sixteen to ten and the only legislation that can possibly be enacted on the subject of racing is to have a state commission provided for and a heavy tax imposed on the tracks.

FATHOM RUNS A SMART RACE.

Penny Three-Year-Old Wins Feature at Norfolk in Highly Impressive Fashion.

Norfolk, Va., April 2.—Hugh Penny's Fathom won the feature race of the second day of the Jamestown Jockey Club's meeting, an allowance race at seven-eighths of a mile, for three-year-olds, with Polly H. second and Czar Michael third. Jockey J. McTaggart, who had the mount on the winner, sent him to the front right after the start and opened up an enormous lead, which he retained to the finish. Polly H. was outpaced in the early running but closed a big gap in the stretch and easily disposed of Czar Michael for second place. Fathom was worked out an extra eighth and went the mile in 1:32 1/2.

The opening dash of the day saw the Whitney colors carried to victory by Forderol, a handsome daughter of Burgomaster and Jinks. She was overbooked in the betting by the public, those that had previously performed being preferred.

The public were anxious and failed to land upon the winners, but one choice being returned a winner, that being Fathom.

Twelve layers were in line and speculation was fairly brisk.

Jockey Butwell, while galloping a two-year-old this morning sustained an injury to his ankle which necessitated the cancelling of his engagements. The horse stumbled and crossed its legs, and Butwell could not get clear in time.

E. Cottrell and Gordon and Shaw arrived this morning from Washington with several head of horses, among them being Anvari and Frijole. They are ready to race and will be seen in action before the close of the meeting. Martin Foley arrived from Juarez.

Attorney-General John Garland Pollard of the state of Virginia arrived here tonight and it is rumored that his visit is in connection with a campaign to obtain evidence against bookmaking. Mr. Pollard is unaccompanied, having brought no detectives with him.

The books for the spring meeting at Havre de Grace were distributed among the horsemen this morning.

Mortimer Mahoney was among the visitors today. He arrived from New York and probably will remain for the rest of the meeting.

The track was heavy this morning when the following work-outs took place:

Brynlimah—Mile in 1:49.
Bulgarian—Three-quarters in 1:22.
Cogs—Seven-eighths in 1:40.
Conqueror—Three-quarters in 1:21.

Volthorpe—Mile in 1:49.

PLANNING MEETING FOR CHEYENNE.

Denver, Col., April 2.—Cheyenne, Wyo., boosters are to hold a meeting at an early date to take up the proposition of having the Denver Fair and Racing Association, which has the Overland Park lease, conduct a meeting there, either late in May or late in August, following the Frontier Day celebration. Racing Secretary Robert F. Leighton, representing W. A. Read, president of the Denver Fair and Racing Association, has inspected the track at Cheyenne and has gone over other matters of detail in connection with the proposed meeting.

Charles Irwin, of the Frontier Association, insists that Cheyenne will be able to support several weeks of racing, but others are inclined to be more conservative. The average opinion seems to be that from three days to a week will be all that will be advisable this spring. If this meeting is successful it is felt that there would be justification for holding another in the fall or of lengthening the schedule next spring.

ARCHIE ZIMMER REACHES LEXINGTON.

Lexington, Ky., April 2.—Archie Zimmer, owner of Cough Hill and other horses, arrived here this morning from New York. He was accompanied by jockey Clarence Turner. They will remain until after the spring meeting of the Kentucky Association track.

THE REMARKABLE SPEED OF AN OLD-TIME CHICAGO FAVORITE

In the course of the many years in which racing over Chicago tracks flourished unobstructed and ranked as a highly popular open air diversion it was but natural that now and then a horse should become endeared to the patrons of the sport, in a measure much beyond the favor extended to its competitors. Of these local idols in racing might be instance such in their times as Emperor of Norfolk, Los Angeles, Robert Waddell, McCleskey, Yo Tambien, Dick Welles, Advance Guard, Pink Coat, Sidney Lucas, Imp, Morelo, English Lad, Rodolfo, Endurance by Right, Terra Cotta, Santiago, Ida Pickwick, The Lady, Silverdale, Toulon, Don Domo, Verge d'Or, Six Shooter, Ray S., Maid Marian, Van Buren, Cash Day, George Arnold, Gregor K., Tokalon, El Rio Rey, Little Minch, Ormie, Proctor Knott, Garry Herrmann, Lady Schorr, Maey, Clara Bauer, Aloha, Guido, Lieutenant Gibson, John Bright, Aladdin, Federal, Allan-a-Dale, C. W. Johnson, Articulate, Runnels, Miss Bennett, Princess Bowling, Bannockburn, Sam Phillips, Helter Skelter, Tim Murphy, Oregon, Eclipse, Pedestrian, Abe Frank, Fayette, Algol, Marion C., Colonial Girl, great stayers some of them, others only sprinters; famous stake winners on one hand, only consistent sellers on the other; some having long careers and returning to local tracks year by year; others, like El Rio Rey and Endurance by Right, only flashing through one season of brilliant success. Many and many are there in Chicago today who can recall the superb beauty and symmetry of George Arnold, the amazing speed of Dick Welles, the antics of those scamps of the track, Little Minch and Ormie, the majestic appearance of McChesney, Emperor of Norfolk and El Rio Rey, the pretty half bashful ways of Yo Tambien in nodding her head to the grandstand in seemingly acknowledging the ripple of applause from its occupants as she passed it on her way to the post, the decided trotting action of wily Los Angeles, the tremendous stretch rushes of blaze-faced Advance Guard and other peculiarities that singled one and another from its fellows in a way recognized and held in remembrance by habits of the track.

All of those named and others had their varying measures of local popularity in their racing days, but none was more of a favorite than Dick Welles. He made his debut in racing here and it was here that nearly all of his racing was done. He was a bay colt by King Eric from the Hanover mare, Tea's Over, and was undoubtedly King Eric's best son. King Eric was bred by David D. Withers, the famous eastern breeder, owner and turf lawyer, being a son of his imported King Tom stallion, King Ernest, and the imported Parmesan mare, Cyclope. From this it results that King Eric was a purely English-bred horse and besides was himself a capital race horse in his days on the track. Dick Welles was bred by R. H. Anderson, of Georgetown, Ky. He was introduced to the folks hereabouts at Harlem, June 14, 1902, in a half-mile sprint for two-year-olds, over a heavy track. There were eleven starters and Dick, starting as the property of Keating & Hecker, was at 50 to 1 in the betting. He was never accused of being a mud horse, but he could run fairly well in it when the occasion demanded and he finished a good third to The Don and Foxy Kane after making up considerable ground in the last quarter. There was something about the colt's performance that pleased Jerome B. Respass and he bought him for the reputed price of $4,000 and in doing so secured the bargain of his lifetime. Right off the colt began to win races for him.

Four days after his first race he was started for his new owner at four and a half furlongs and won easily in 53 1/2. With Capt. Sam Brown's Pluck second, "Lucky" Baldwin's Americano third and nine more unplaced. It was a fast track that day and so rapidly had Dick Welles become a favorite that he was a 13 to 5 favorite at the post. June 26 he started at Washington Park in a four and a half furlongs race, with seven opponents. John A. Drake's colt, Von Rouse, was one of them. He was thought to be something more than ordinary and, besides that, the track was soft and slow, which was held to be in his favor. So he was a 4 to 5 favorite and Dick Welles was at 3 to 1. He lost no time about showing that it was himself that was above the ordinary and, leading all the way, won in a canter by five lengths, with J. Sidney Walker second and Foxy Kane third. It was different when he made his next appearance. This was on June 28, in a five-eighths of a mile dash over a slow track. He had seven good opponents, but was at 1 to 3 in the betting, and won pulled up by ten lengths in 1:04 1/2, with Topsoil second and Linguist third. By this time the colt had accumulated a large store of public confidence, which was rudely shaken and diminished when he next started. This was in the Kenwood Stakes, at five-eighths, July 1. Only Sam Hildreth's Tom Cogan and Fred T. Woods' Stenwinder opposed him and, as frequently occurs when fields are small, the colt's and their riders were unkindly at the post and wasted considerable time before a start was effected. Dick Welles was at 1 to 8 in the betting. Stenwinder led into the stretch, but when his admirers were expecting Dick Welles to forge into the lead they were amazed to see Tom Cogan pass the other two with a rush and win by a length in such slow time for the distance as 1:08 1/2, the track being extremely heavy. Of course it was a fluke for Tom Cogan to beat Dick Welles, but the history of racing is full of such surprises. All carried 118 pounds and Dick Welles finished second.

So it came about that when the rich Hyde Park Stakes was run on July 17, Dick Welles was not a favorite, preference going to the Drake couple entry of Savable and Von Rouse at 8 to 5, while he was second choice at 2 1/2 to 1. There were fourteen starters, but so far as the race was concerned it was a case of one horse and thirteen pursuers. Dick Welles was far out in front all the way and won eased up by six lengths, with Savable second and Early third. Since Savable afterwards went to Sheephead Bay and won the Futurity from twenty-three opponents, some idea can be gleaned of what kind of a two-year-old Dick Welles was. The subsequently great winner, Claude, and his Kenwood Stakes conqueror, Tom Cogan, were among the also-rans in the Hyde Park. The three-quarters of a mile was trotted in 1:13 1/2.

His next start was in the Test Stakes, at Hawthorne, July 31. It was a heavy track and he lost so much ground by a wide stretch turn that he could not get up and finished fourth to Topsoil, Gregor K. and Foxy Kane. The distance was five and a half furlongs, run in 1:11 1/2. At Harlem, August 4, he ran five-eighths of a mile in a purse race in 1:00 and won in a canter from Sidney C. Love, Mirance and six more, and at the same track, August 9, won another at four and a half furlongs in 55 1/2, with St. Minor second and Aloha third. His last race of the year was in the White Plains Handicap, at Morris Park, October 25. The race was over the straight Eclipse course of three-quarters and at the finish in 1:06 1/2, Merry Acrobat, 100 pounds, was first; River Pirate, 118, second, and Dick Welles, 118, third, a head and two noses apart. Eight more ran and if Dick Welles had been at his best that day he would have won in a canter. It was his only race over a New York track.

When a three-year-old in 1903 Dick Welles was only once beaten and won fourteen races. His campaign began at Latonia, May 25, in the Brewers' Exchange Handicap, at three-quarters of a mile, and three-year-olds and over. At 2 1/2 to 1 he was second choice to the coupled entry of Jack Ratlin and Bardolph, but won in a canter by four lengths in 1:13 1/2, with Jack Ratlin second and Hilee third. He carried 112 pounds to 118 on the four-year-old Jack Ratlin and 99 on Hilee. Then he was brought to Chicago and, at Harlem, June 13, defeated Burnie Buntin, Nitrate and five more at three-quarters in 1:13 1/2. At Washington Park, June 27, he won at the same distance in 1:12 1/2, defeating Runnels, A. D. Gibson and four more. It was another dash of three-quarters, in which he carried equal weights, 109 pounds, with the fast John A. Drake four-year-old colt, Runnels, in others all having less weight. Dick was the favorite at 6 to 5 and Runnels second choice at 2 to 1, it being recognized that the race was between the two. Dick Welles was so badly left at the post that it seemed madness to hope that he might win. Setting a great pace, John Peters rushed away in the lead, with Runnels racing close up, and led to the last eighth. But, knowing what an extraordinary racing machine was under him, jockey T. Knight hit sent Dick Welles after the others and by the time the stretch was reached had made up considerable of the lost ground, but was still next to last. Then, calling on the colt, the latter covered the ground with an unequalled burst of speed and, finishing straight as a bullet, got up and nipped Runnels in the last stride to win by a nose in a din of screams and cheers beyond description. When the then new record time of 1:11 1/4 was hung out there was another frantic outburst. As a matter of fact, separately timed by competent men, Dick Welles ran his three-quarters in 1:10 1/2 and it was a marvellous feat only to be come by a marvellously fast horse. July 7 he carried 110 pounds in the Drexel Stakes and, running his mile in 1:28, won with ease from Bad News, McGee and McGowan, being a 1 to 3 favorite. At Hawthorne, July 20, he won the Premier Stakes, at a mile in 1:41, and, carrying 122 pounds, won by four lengths from McGee, 107, and Orsina, 112, Sir Hugh and Giffan running unplaced. His solitary defeat of the year followed at Harlem, August 3, in the Garden City Handicap of three-quarters of a mile. The track was bad and having 122 pounds to carry, besides being pocketed and knocked about, he was not even placed. Jack Ratlin, 100 pounds, winning in 1:15 1/2, with Aloha, 97, second, and Orfeo, 91, third. Five days later, with 116 pounds up, he won the Chicago Stakes, at a mile in 1:41 1/2, from Toab, 5, 113, and Bragg, 4, 117, with McGee, John Bright, Aladdin, Ontonagon and Gregor K. unplaced, it being safe, but not fast, going. August 12 he won a purse at three-quarters in 1:12 1/2 from A. D. Gibson, Delagosa and four more, but had to be driven out to beat A. D. Gibson by a nose, carrying 113 pounds to 103 on the latter fast five-year-old. It happened that at that time E. E. Smathers owned an extremely speedy four-year-old named Grand Opera, which he conceived could trim Dick Welles at a mile, so on August 14 the two came together at Harlem with Dick carrying 112 pounds to 115 on Grand Opera. There was not much to the race so far as a contest was concerned, but the colt set his army of followers to whooping lustily when, after leading all the way and winning easily, the new mile record time of 1:37 1/2 was displayed. That record stood for six years and was one of the things that made him a famous horse indeed. Next he won the Speculation Stakes of a mile at Hawthorne over a slow track in 1:40 1/2, with Orsina second and Florine third, and then beat Postmaster Wright, Florine, Bondage and Glassful at a mile and an eighth in 1:52 1/2. Only Delagosa and Emma A. started against him in the Speed Stakes, at Harlem, September 28, and he won in a canter in 1:14 1/2. His next and last two races took place at Latonia. As a 1 to 10 favorite he won at three-quarters pulled up, October 24, in 1:14 from Red Raven and Carl Kahler. Then, on October 29, to please the home folks, he was sent a mile against the then existing Latonia mile record of 1:39 1/2, made by Battin in 1899, and delighted all hands concerned by covering the distance in 1:38. That was the last race of one of the fastest horses that ever stood on iron and his record and pedigree are as follows:

When a three-year-old in 1903 Dick Welles was only once beaten and won fourteen races. His campaign began at Latonia, May 26, in the Brewers' Exchange Handicap, at three-quarters of a mile for three-year-olds and over. At 2½ to 1 he was second choice to the coupled entry of Jack Ratlin and Bardolph, but won in a canter by four lengths in 1:13½, with Jack Ratlin second and Hlee third. He carried 112 pounds. On June 13, he carried 114 pounds to beat Bad News in the Chicago Handicap, a mile and one-quarter. On June 13, defeated Burnie Buntin, Nitrate and five more at three-quarters in 1:13½. At Washington Park, June 27, he won at the same distance in 1:12½, defeating Runnels, A. D. Gibson and four more and was a 1 to 2 favorite. June 30 he ran one of the most wonderful races on record. It was another day of three-quarters, in which he carried equal weights, 109 pounds, with the fast John A. Drake four-year-old colt, Runnels, the others all having less weight. Dick was the favorite at 6 to 5 and Runnels second choice at 10 to 1. The race was a real thriller. Runnels was the fast one. Dick Welles so badly left a mark on the post that it seemed madness to hope that he might win. Settling at a great pace, John A. Drake was away in the lead, with Runnels racing close up, and led to the last eighth. But, knowing what an extraordinary racing machine was under him, jockey T. Knight had sent Dick Welles after the others and by the time the stretch was reached had made up considerable of the lost ground, but was still next to last. Then, calling on the colt, the latter covered the ground with an unequalled burst of speed and, finishing slightly ahead, he won by a neck. He was the first to win by a neck in the history of the track and cheers were his description. When the then new record time of 1:11½ was laid out, there was no further trouble outburst. As a matter of fact, separately timed by competent men, Dick Welles ran his three-quarters in 1:10½ and it was a marvellous feat only to be done by a marvellously fast horse. July 7 he carried 110 pounds in the Drexel Stakes and, running his mile in 1:38, won with ease from Bad News and McGee and McGowan, being a 1 to 3 favorite. At Hawthorne, July 20, he won the Premier Stakes, at a mile in 1:41, and carried 122 pounds. On August 7, he won the Orfeso, 112, at a mile and one-quarter and again running unplaced. His solitary defeat of the year followed at Harlem, August 12, in the Sir Hugh City Handicap of three-quarters of a mile. The track was bad and having 122 pounds to carry, besides being pocketed and knocked about, he was not even placed, Jack Ratlin, 109 pounds, winning in 1:15½, with Ahola, 97, second, and Orfeo, 91, third. Five days later, with 116 pounds up, he won the Chicago Stakes, at a mile in 1:41½, from Toab, 5, 113, and Bragg, 4, 117, with McGee, John Bright, Aladdin, Ontonagon and Grege K. unplaced. On September 1, he was safe, and not lost, going. August 12 he won a purse at Hawthorne and on September 1, at the same track, he won a purse and he was to be driven out to beat a horse named A. D. Gibson by a nose, carrying 113 pounds to 103 on the latter fast five-year-old. It happened that at the time E. E. Snathers owned an extremely speedy four-year-old named Grand Opera, which he conceived could trim Dick Welles at a mile, so on August 14 the two came together at Harlem, with Dick carrying 112 pounds to 115 on Grand Opera. There was not much to the race so far as a contest was concerned, but the colt set his array of followers to whooping lustily when, after leading all the way and winning easily, he drew up to the post and was beaten by a nose. He was the first to win by a nose and was one of the things that made him a famous horse indeed. Next he won the Speculation Stakes at a mile and one-quarter at Hawthorne over a slow track in 1:40½, with Orsina second and Floearline third and then beat Postmaster, Started, Floearline, Bondage and Glassful at a mile and an eighth in 1:52½. Only Delagoa and Emma A. won against him in the Speed Stakes, at Harlem, September 28, and he won in a canter in 1:14½. His next and last two races took place at Latonia. As a 1 to 10 favorite he won at three-quarters pulled up on October 24, 1904, and on November 1, 1904, he won the Kentucky Handicap, please the home folks, he was a mile against the then existing Latonia mile record of 1:39½, made by a horse that had delighted all hands concerned by covering the distance in 1:38. That was the last race of one of the best horses that ever stood on iron and his record and pedigree are as follows:

RAIN RETARDS TRAINING

SUCCESSION OF HEAVY SHOWERS KEEPS LOUISVILLE TRACKS MUDDY.

Old Rosebud, Kentucky Derby Favorite, in Superb Condition—Little Nephew Only Prominent Derby Eligible to Meet with Mishap So Far.

Louisville, Ky., April 2.—Continued showers of the real April brand have kept both tracks at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park in slushy condition during the past few days and as a result fast work by the horses here has been out of the question.

Old Rosebud, the favorite for the Kentucky Derby, worked six furlongs in the heavy going under double wraps in 1:24 1/2, going the first eighth in 13 1/2 and the quarter in 27 1/2. He is surely a grand horse in the mud and so smooth is his action that he does not even throw the mud over himself as most other horses do. On Wednesday his owners, E. C. Applegate and the latter's father, Col. W. E. Applegate, visited Douglas Park with trainer F. D. Weir to see the great three-year-old take his work. He is being ridden in all his gallops by jockey J. McCabe, who thoroughly understands him and knows all his little peculiarities. As when a two-year-old, he has a perfect temperament and works generously. Trainer Weir thinks he is taking his preparation as well as is possible and has no excuses of any kind to offer for him. He does not doubt that he will be at his best on Saturday, May 9, when the rich mile and a quarter stake will be run.

So far all of the Derby candidates in training here have not met with any serious setbacks. Ralph's slight lameness of a recent date has entirely disappeared. It was of only a trifling nature, probably due to bumping a leg in his stall. Of course this does not apply to Little Nephew, which injured himself during the winter before his real Derby training began. At that time son of Uncle has improved greatly by the last few weeks, the swelling of his injured hock having been reduced materially, and it may be possible to put him in training much earlier than seemed probable a month back. The outlook for the great race this spring both as to class and number of the prominent contestants, is indeed rosy.

John W. Schorr's Froglegs is training unusually well for his engagement in the Kentucky Handicap, $10,000 added, to be run on the opening day of the Douglas Park spring meeting, Saturday, May 23, and the Clark Handicap, to be run at Churchill Downs. This five-year-old wintered well and has thickened and broadened out greatly as a result of his long rest. Trainers think Froglegs could not possibly be in better condition to begin severe training for his big handicap engagements and he will undoubtedly be one of the favorites in any race in which he runs during the coming local meetings.

Another older horse that is doing exceedingly well in training for the Kentucky and Clark Handicaps, races is R. J. Mackenzie's five-year-old, Buckhorn, in charge of trainer Jack Adkins at Douglas Park. He has wintered superbly and will undoubtedly come back to the races this season as one of the best of the older division. Trainer Adkins has five other horses in his barn at this course, they being the noted mare Helen Barbee, Melton Street, Adelaide T., Leo Skolny and his recent purchase, San Vega. The latter two are three-year-olds that were purchased by trainer Adkins for Mr. Mackenzie this spring. San Vega is not engaged in the Kentucky Derby, but was entered by his former owner for the Latonia Derby. He started eleven times last season and is still a maiden, but upon many occasions was placed and when he was beaten it was generally by smart two-year-olds. Adkins thinks that these three-year-olds are good racing prospects.

Several stables have arrived in the last twenty-four hours from Charleston and are now quartered at the local tracks. Those that went to Churchill Downs were Frank Gering with Flying Yankee and Captain Beck; Lew Marion with Prince Herns; Verena, Sam Hirsch and another horse; Mrs. Theo Abadie with Tom King, Boly Hill and two two-year-olds, and Lee Christy with two horses.

Raleigh Colston took his big stable of seventeen horses to Douglas Park. It is the biggest string this colored trainer and once noted jockey has had in charge since he handled the winter Derby favorite, Waldo, at Churchill Downs in the season of 1910. Colston's stable consists of eleven two-year-olds and six older horses. The older horses are Princess Callaway, Duval Crown, Kaintuck, Caller On, Fontarbia and Arionetta. The two-year-olds are Moscow, Netherbow, Cheyron, La Patrie, Gladwin, Lad, Tetan, Ravenhall, Failure, Hattie Burton and Mattie C. The Colston horses reached here in good condition and after being briefly rested, will be on the track for regular exercise after the first of the coming week.

The racing stable in W. M. Reeves has arrived from Greenup, Ky., in charge of trainer W. Gowell and is now quartered at Douglas Park. He has in his barn a two-year-old bay filly by Plumades and a bay colt of the same age by Hurst Park, in addition to the older horses, Clyde T., Wolf's Barn, The General and Quartermaster. The latter looks exceptionally well this spring and has evidently been greatly benefited by his winter's rest. Another arrival at Douglas Park from Charleston is the stable in charge of R. Campbell, which embraces Royal Report, Toy and Esther Blues.

Trainer Scott Williams has arrived to take up Curtin Call, which has been turned out since last fall at a farm near this city. This horse is owned by a Cincinnati turfman, M. G. Thompson, and Williams thinks he is a good racing prospect for the Latonia meeting.

A. G. Dunlap, of Los Angeles, whose string is now at Churchill Downs in charge of trainer George Land, will send five of his horses to race at Lexington during the coming meeting there. He has eight horses in training at the Downs and the five that he will send to Lexington are ready to race, having shipped well from Juarez, where they were raced frequently of late. Two of the horses he will send to Lexington are Maud McKee and Ocean Queen, both of which can run in all sorts of going.

DETAILS OF PRATT BILL.

Toronto, Ont., April 2.—The bill affecting racing introduced in the Ontario legislature by Mr. Pratt, member for South Norwalk, is an act to incorporate a board of racing supervisors, the name commission not appearing in this year's bill, which differs in several respects from that introduced by him and withdrawn last year. It provides for the appointment by the government of a board of not more than five nor less than three members "to supervise and control all horse racing organizations, companies or incorporations that conduct race meetings in the province of Ontario."

They are to have access at all times to all buildings and the right to inspect all books and papers, or paraphernalia, as well as to prescribe rules for running races, and to hear appeals from the decisions of judges, starters and stewards. It is not likely that the measure will be taken seriously by the legislature, which has never shown any indication or a desire to assume charge of racing, whether in harness or under saddle. As a bill promoted by a private member, it has no precedence and the legislature will be pretty well occupied with government business until the end of the session.

ENGLISH HORSES IN AUSTRALIA.
The day is getting closer when we shall see a field for some race at an Australian meeting composed entirely of horses imported from England. During the past couple of years J. Earnshaw has had a fair number of importations in hand at Randwick, and it is mentioned in an exchange that he is receiving from England the three-year-old St. Spasa (St. Amant—Cartina) and a two-year-old colt by John o'Gaunt. Both are owned by Mr. L. Robinson and St. Spasa is said to have given a deal of promise early last season. Earnshaw has scored some good wins with imported horses. Sir Footie and Antonio being among those trained by him. Mr. H. J. Hall, one of R. Wootton's patrons, is another owner who is going to try his luck in Australia with imported horses. Tachilla (Kronstadt—Bad Mark) and Double Up (Le Elton—Double A.), both of whom won for him in England, have reached Adelaide, where they will be trained by Patterson. They are three-year-old fillies. In Australia last season's imported winners included Almissa (Australian Cup), Eudorus (Futurity Stakes), while this season Sen Prince has made his mark by winning a Williams-town Cup and other races—Sydney Referee.

MAKING LONG JOURNEY TO RACE.
The Australian horse, Bullawarra, was shipped last Saturday for England, the purpose of the long journey being to run next year in the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase. Bullawarra is an eight-year-old gelding that has won hurdle races under big weights. Last year he won the Australian Steeplechase at the Victoria Amateur Turf Club's meeting with 170 pounds up, over a four-mile course. He was bred in Queensland, and is by Sir Simon—Nacrite, the sire being a son of Hart Brown, and the dam by Jock. Bullawarra is owned by Norman Falkner, who thinks that what a New Zealander and a French horse have done is not beyond the capacity of his champion.

NOTES OF THE TURF.
The Davies string, which trainer Henry McDaniel has in charge at Woodbine, consists of twenty-four horses, with the veteran Plate Glass at the head. Trainer McDaniel has them in tip-top condition, but they will not begin to race until the Canadian racing season opens at Woodbine, May 23.

Word comes from Lexington that C. F. Buschmeyer's Hawthorn, which J. C. Milam is training this season, looks extremely well after his winter's truce from training, and is expected to race most satisfactorily than his old last season, when his training was interrupted by a severe spell of sickness.

Harry Morrissey, who is to officiate as a starter on the Kentucky tracks this season, has arrived at Lexington from his home at Gloucester, N. J., and will begin the schooling of two-year-olds at all the Kentucky courses within a few days. He will himself remain at Lexington, while his assistants will be in charge of the schools at Louisville and Latonia.

E. L. Wenrick, of 11 W. 64th Street, New York, has issued a catalogue of rare works and pictures in his possession, pertaining in the main to thoroughbred horses and racing, but also taking in the literature of trotting, polo and other sports. Stud books, historical accounts of racing and race horses in this country and abroad, the works of Wallace, Forester, Trevelyan, Davis, Irving, Borden-Bence, Stillman, Hayes, William Porter, John Porter, Stillman, Lawley, Kent, Hayes, Radcliffe, Watson, Cuzon, and many others, turf guides and calendars and many other things of interest are embraced in a curiously extensive list that must have consumed years in collection.

TWO HORSES DIE AT LOUISVILLE.
Word comes from Louisville that Cousin Puss and Cosgrove, which were unloaded in bad condition at that place last week on arrival from Juarez as a result of having contracted pneumonia en route, have died. Cousin Puss was a racer of handicap quality when at her best and was the property of D. E. Stewart. She was a five-year-old chestnut mare by Pink Coat—Fleurion, and her racing record is as follows:

Table with 10 columns: Year, Age, Srs., 1st, 2d, 3d, Unp., Won.
1911 2 Did not race.
1912 3 14 3 0 1 10 $ 1,210
1913 4 23 7 4 1 11 3,830
1914 5 1 0 1 1 3 423
Totals (3) 42 11 4 3 24 $5,465

Cosgrove was a selling plate of better than ordinary ability at sprinting distances. He was a five-year-old bay horse by Peep o'Day—Medica, and belonged to Dr. R. H. McKenzie, of Pittsburgh, Pa., although he raced in the name of W. C. Clancy. His racing record follows:

Table with 10 columns: Year, Age, Srs., 1st, 2d, 3d, Unp., Won.
1911 3 Did not race.
1912 3 15 1 1 1 11 $ 510
1913 4 18 4 6 4 4 1,705
1914 5 12 3 6 3 0 1,300
Totals (3) 45 9 13 8 15 $3,515

DRAWS LESSON FROM KENTUCKY.
Not without just cause do the Louisville newspapers exult in the fact, made possible by the pari-mutuel system, that two racing events to be decided there next month will be of $10,000 added money.

Downs and the big handicap at Douglas Park are responsible for a state of prosperity for owners that would never have been dreamed of under the old system. Toronto is a much bigger city than Louisville, but has less racing, and only one mile track. Nevertheless, we are not accustomed to sit back and see others lead, so everybody hopes that the Ontario Jockey Club, which is providing increased comfort and accommodation for the public by a new stand at the Woodbine this year, will follow that up by making the King's Plate of the future worth as much as the Kentucky classic. Such a move would surely be of immense advantage to Canadian breeding interests, and in a few seasons we should see an entry of a hundred horses for the Plate, or even nominations from a hundred owners.—Francis Nelson in Toronto Globe.

CONSTITUTIONALISTS HOLD RACE MATINEE.
The Mexican Constitutionalists conducted an afternoon of racing at the Juarez track last Sunday in connection with the festivities of welcome to General Carranza, the commander-in-chief of their forces. Six races were filled by horses that took part in the winter meeting at Juarez, were great friars for purses of $100 and the winners were Great Friar, Unalga, Hannis, Ghull, Admiral's Daughter, and Thomas Hare. Peter Clark acted as presiding judge, and E. J. Ramsey as starter.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.
W. D. Chicago. The place bet on Royal Meteor at Jamestown April 1 lost.
G. G. Louisville, Ky. Old Rosebud's last race of last year was when he won the United States Hotel Stakes at Saratoga August 13, 1913.

Went to post at 2:45. Start good and fast. Won easily; second and third driving. FOLDEROL began quickly and, taking a long lead in the first quarter, could have won further off had her rider wished and is an extra good looker. LOUISE MAY finished fast after having closed up much ground. I MAY came from far back and ran a good race. STALWART HELEN and ENERGETIC met with interference at the start, which hurt their chances and both closed up fast in the last quarter. LADY CAPRICIOUS showed early speed, but tired.

BOOTH ran close up behind the leaders to the stretch, then moved up and, taking the lead, out-stayed PAUL DAVIS in a closely contested finish. The latter began slowly and was forced to work his way up on the outside, but was going best at the end and would have won in another stride. ELMA also closed a big gap and finished fast. THE URCHIN and PHEW tired after being forward contenders to the stretch. NIMBUS was off badly and pocketed and never had a chance to get through until too late. SURPASS set the pace to the stretch and quit badly.

DEDUCTION followed the pacemakers closely to the stretch, then moved up fast and, catching SILAS GRUMP firing, got up to win in the final stride. SILAS GRUMP showed the most early speed, but tired in the stretch drive. BELLE TERRE was slightly interfered with in the first quarter and ran a good race. BILLY STUART had a poor start and could not improve his position until in the last quarter. AUSTIN STURTEVANT was always a forward contender. ETHELBERG II. and TONY W. ran well.

POLLY H. was outpaced in the early running, but closed a gap in the last quarter and took second place in the last eighth. CZAR MICHAEL showed speed, but was much used in trying to overtake the winner and tired badly in the stretch drive. INDOLENCE ran far below his true form and can do much better. Winner—Br. h. by Yorkshire Lad—Addie (trained by A. R. Bresler).
Went to post at 4:32. At post 1 minute. Start good and fast. Won driving; second and third the same. YORK LAD raced in a good position to the last eighth, then moved up fast and wore PARLOIR BOY down to win drawing clear. PARLOIR BOY took the lead on the last turn, but was made too much use of after racing RYE STRAW into defeat and tired in the final drive. THE BUSYBODY ran a good race and held on well in the stretch drive. RYE STRAW showed early speed, but quit after running a good half mile. WILLIS set the early pace and held a good position to the stretch, then quit. AMORET had no chance at the start, although he closed up much ground. FONT closed a big gap.
